Sales and Service of Fine Quality Instruments Since 1970

For the

- General Practitioner
- Endodontist
- Oral Surgeon
- Orthodontist
- Pedodontist
- Periodontist

Since its inception in 1970 Paul Banditt was one of the first independent companies that made high quality german made dental and surgical instruments available to the US dental market.

The achieved their name by providing premium quality products.

In early 2019, Sabra Dental acquired The Paul Banditt Instrument company to continue with their mission in providing quality German instruments in addition to our full service dental and surgical product lines. With a commitment to excellence in both products and service Sabra Dental Products/SabraDent Surgical will help you to provide your patients with better care and save you money while doing so.

We look forward to being at your service.

When your instruments show signs of wear, send them to us for repair and sharpening.

Terms & Conditions

PRICES

Prices are subject to periodic updates without notice.

TERMS

Visa, Mastercard, American Express and C.O.D. are accepted in addition to pre-payment. For existing accounts in good standing, our terms are net 30 days of receipt of order unless prior arrangements have been made.

SHIPPING

SHIPPING Shipping is done via UPS and is paid by the customer. Please inform us if next day air or 2nd day shipping is needed. It is the customer's responsibility to file claims with UPS for loss or damage within 10 days of receipt. Please retain shipping carton and contents for possible inspection by UPS.

RETURNS

Any returned items must be sent in a box, with the customers name, address, phone number and the desired results. For your protection, please insure all packages. All returns for credit must be unused and returned within 30 days of purchase. A 15% restocking fee may apply. We will accept no returns on special orders and custom made instruments.

REPAIRS

All items submitted for repair are to be insured for your protection. Include desired results with your office name, phone number and contact person. All instruments are to be cleaned and sterilized before being sent to us. Any instruments that have not been cleaned will be returned.

WARRANTY

All Banditt instruments are guaranteed to be free of defects in materials and workmanship. Any defective instruments will be inspected and repaired or replaced, at our discretion, without charge. All needleholders (excluding Castro-Viejo) are guaranteed for three years of normal use. Instruments must never be closed during sterilization and they must be cleaned and sterilized prior to first use. Extraction forceps and rongeurs have a ten-year guarantee against breakage under normal use. Any attempt to alter or repair by any parties other than Sabra Dental or its authorized technicians, will void any warranty expressed, written or implied.

Tips For Sterilization

- Clean all instruments thoroughly before sterilizing.
- Read all instructions and warnings on chemicals before using.
We are not responsible for instruments damaged by improper sterilization.
- Make sure all instruments are dry before autoclaving or other.
Needle holders and forceps must be open when sterilizing.
- Never mix dissimilar metals, such as stainless steel and chrome plated or carbon steel.
- Dry or cold sterilization on all carbon steel instruments.
Do not leave them in chemicals and always keep them dry.
- Distal end cutters are made of tooled steel. Dry heat only with no chemicals.
- Ligature Cutters have tungsten carbide inserts and may only be autoclaved.

Trouble Shooting Guide For Surgical Instruments

PROBLEM	CAUSE	PREVENTION
Spotting	Insufficient rinsing after ultrasonic cleaning	Rinse thoroughly under steady stream of water for recommended time.
	Insufficient drying after ultrasonic cleaning	Rinse with hot water. Optional: Dip cassettes in alcohol after rinsing.
	Contaminated ultrasonic solution	Solution should be changed at least twice a day.
	Sterilizer has not been cleaned	Sterilizer should be cleaned weekly per manufacturer's recommendation. Use only distilled water for reservoir.
Rust	Worn chrome plating of brass instruments	Look for plating wear, Remove from service.
	Corrosion from carbon instruments spreads to stainless steel instruments	Separate stainless steel and carbon steel instruments during cleaning and sterilization cycle. Dip carbon steel instrument in "milk bath".
	Inexpensive instruments not having undergone passivation process	Remove instruments from service.
	Improperly maintained autoclave: rust transfers from corroded pipes and drum to instruments	Clean and flush water lines in sterilizer to manufacturer's recommendations . Disinfect inner chamber.
Pitting	Chemical attack on instruments	Rinse and dry instrument thoroughly. Use approved cleaning sterilization solutions only
Brown/Orange Stain	Contaminated sterilizer; high alkaline detergents, cold disinfectant, dried blood, copalite	Clean sterilizer. Use neutral pH solutions. Clean and rinse instruments thoroughly.
Black Stain	Acid reaction from low pH detergents; tartar and stain remover, residual amalgam oxidation	Maintain neutral environment in the sterilizer, avoid contact with incompatible solutions, remove excess amalgam from carrier.
Bluish-black Stain	Mixing dissimilar metals during cleaning and sterilization	Segregate carbon steel, aluminum and stainless steel instruments.
	Inferior or worn plating of carbon steel instruments in	Segregate instruments or remove from service.
Gray Stain	Permanent cement remover, sulfuric acid, hydrochloric acid	Avoid contact with these solutions.
Rainbow Color Stain	Chromium oxide stains resulting from excessive heat	Can be polished off, but need to have manufacturer check hardness.
Cracked Hinge	Excessive force by user; Sterilization in the closed position.	Confirm intended use for instrument. Replace instrument.

Porcelain forceps
With removable soft inserts, sterilizable up to 180°, for the application and adaptation of ceramic crowns and bridges.

Purpose: Removing of ceramic crowns and bridges during adaptation. The interchangeable elastic inserts avoid damage to the surface of the crown, and adjust themselves to the shape of the tooth in such a way, that one pair of forceps each for the maxillary and mandibular are sufficient.

Instructions for use:
The interchangeable inserts are fitted into the holes in the beaks of the forceps as follows
(1) catch the pivots and pull,
(2) until the inserts are tightly fitting the metal beaks. Pushing the inserts through the holes will not produce the required result.
When applying the forceps the inserts will be kept in their correct position by the pivots and the friction between elastic material and metal. If required, the holding pivots may be cut with a pair of scissors, but sufficient length should be left to enable tightening of the inserts with the fingers or pliers should the inserts become loose.

The screw is designed to avoid too strong a compression of the crown during application of the forceps. The forceps are not usable for crowns which are tapered and have their biggest circumference near the gingival margin.

Crown Remover

- Ergonomic design with cranked jaw for assured grip.
- Jaw configuration provides circular aperture.
- Grips crowns and bridges securely, regardless of material.
- Cannot damage the tooth neck area

Crown Removers can be used for a variety of applications, e.g.

Crown Remover 2708

- To insert and remove temporary dressings.
- To grip and remove superficial root remnants.
- To extract all types of deciduous teeth.

Crown Remover 2709

- To remove porcelain crowns, porcelain fused to metal, and dicor crowns.
- Trying on for fittings.
- Adjusting the occlusion or when crowns are temporarily cemented.
- You won't damage the margin or the material in any manner.

Crown Remover No. 2709

has to be treated in the same way as the other instruments, that means that the instruments have to be washed before and after the use with a normal rinse.

Afterwards the instruments have to be placed in a disinfectant and then they have to be dried. Instruments have to be totally dry when they are sterilized or held in plastic bags.

The rubber-tips have to be treated in the same way.

Obviously, these tips are due to wear and have to be replaced from time to time.

The rubber-tips can be bought individually.

Crown Separator #108
A manual lever-like tool which simplifies removing individual crowns and bridges (for re-use or scraping). This special purpose instrument is employed in working with crowns and bridges with their plastic or metal ceramic facings.

The technique for removing crowns and bridges:
First take an impression while the lingual crown or bridge is still in place. The next step is to grind through the metal to the fastening cement, either along a lingual-occlusal line or possibly, with fully-cast crowns, a buccal-occlusal line. A 0.8mm carbide fissure bur is suitable for this. The fissure should extend from the occlusal surface to 0.5mm in front of the gingival margin of the crown. The remaining portion not ground through will be useful later on in checking that the crown dimensions around the preparation have not changed. Once all retainers have been pried apart, the protruding edge of the distender is inserted in the fissure of the crown to spread it open. When this is done, the remaining material at the crown margin splits and the crown can be removed. Remove residual fastening cement from the crown and tooth, for instance with the ultrasound device used to remove tartar. If desired, the preparation boundary can now be relocated farther down toward the gum by conventional methods.

Press the distended crown back together to restore its original shape. The split metal edges in the gingival crown margin must fit together precisely.

Check the fit by re-emplacing the crown or bridge. The crown or bridge is then removed from the impression. If the prosthesis had loosened because of a solder fracture, a solder impression should be taken. Otherwise, the crown or bridge should be removed from the whole impression.
